

Centre News Reports: Guidelines for Submission to Organ Canada

1. A Centre News report should be a maximum of 300 words* and submitted as a MS Word file having document name: CentreName_News.

2. Type, at the bottom of your MS Word file, your name and—in case of questions—your e-mail address. Information confined to an e-mail will not be seen by the copy editor.

3. Organ Canada has adopted the following style guides:

- For spelling: the first or primary spelling listed in the Gage Canadian Dictionary (Toronto: Nelson Education, 2013).
- For punctuation, abbreviations, and other mechanics of style: The Canadian Style (Dundurn Press).
- For titles of musical works and spellings of composers' names, the document at <http://content.ucpress.edu/chapters/2266001.ch01.pdf>

4. The deadlines for receipt of Centre News reports are listed in the table below. It is preferable that each Centre send one consolidated report concerning events that occurred between the deadlines, instead of submitting reports of individual events as they occur. Do not send a summary of events for an entire past year.

5. If you wish to include a photo with your report:

- (a) Append to the bottom of your Centre News report a complete photo caption that names persons pictured. In a separate line, credit the name of the photographer, if desired.
- (b) Send no more than one photo per event.
- (c) Photos must be in focus, in colour, with minimum resolution: 300 ppi. Acceptable formats are: TIF, JPG, or EPS. File name should consist of: CentreName_EventName.

6. Send your report and photo as attachments to an e-mail to <editor@rcco.ca>

7. Submissions will be published according to date received, according to the publication schedule shown on the Organ Canada main page – rcco.ca/organ-canada

*8. Longer submissions

When, for a subject of compelling interest, the word limit for a Centre News report does not suffice, consider expanding your subject into a short article. But first email <editor@rcco.ca> for advice on whether such an article can be used.
